Tricotage

Dominique Kieffer by Rubelli is standard bearer for genuine and timeless beauty. This is a 3D faux uni which, by referencing yarns used in knitwear ("tricot", in French) creates a texture with a special tactile and visual consistency whose main purpose is to enhance the quality of the yarn, taking us back to times gone by. Here the design of the textile weave brings out the natural movement of the magical combination of all its components (linen, cotton and viscose) in a rich and sophisticated palette of thirteen colours.

Tricotage rayé

The Tricotage Rayé fabric has a natural, textured appearance created by the type of weave which enhances the features of the yarn. Available in eight colour versions, it can be used both in vertical and in horizontal. The fibres, which produce the complex textile structure, run between lengthwise tracks, enhancing the natural movement of the yarn.
